

LES GENERALS JACK

Les Generals Jack 's third album is finally here.

With their typical « A chacun son Blues » style, nurtured after 15 years of experimenting with Blues, Ska, Rock and Soul, they take you on an original musical voyage. However on this new album Les Generals Jack sound more contemporary than they ever did before.

With Toon Derison (El Fish) on drums, Bart Ieven on guitare de basse/vocal and Marc Bodart (Buttnaked) on vocal/Guitar, this trio delivers its own quirky sound with a sense of infectious anarchy. On top of that, the way they seem to enthusiastically sabotage themselves creates a wonderful anti-establishment feeling. That's why, in times of rigid formats and preconceived expectations, this feel good band feels like a first ray of light after a long winter.

Acajou was recorded live on a 24-track tape recorder with an occasional overdub and under the guidance of a handful of loyal Jack-Headz known for their competence, vision and being as pig-headed as the band themselves (Jan Ieven, Andy Vanlerberghe and Sara Boers). Only in these circumstances, stripped from tricks and artifice, leaving all technology and make-up aside, they were able to reveal their most vulnerable self. Humble yet proud, they've shamelessly stuck to their integrity. In times of hyper commercialization this is proving to be more and more appreciated by fans, listeners and organizers.

So booking Les Generals Jack does not only guarantee you an evening filled with some dirty stubborn low down roots music, it also provides you with truthfulness and willfulness all wrapped up in a cheerful package as an added bonus.
